The 1911 Cadillac "Thirty" enclosed cars embody the same principles and general mechanical construction as the regular Cadillac line. The bodies typify the latest conceptions of the builder's art. Their handsome proportions and graceful lines with the finish and luxuriousness of the appointments appeal to the tastes of dignity, elegance and refinement. The upholstery and inside trimmings are of high quality blue broadcloth. The seat cushions are Royal Arch spring construction, affording the maximum of ease and comfort. Window sash are dark finish mahogany with lights of French plate glass. Windows are made to drop into pockets, excepting the front window of the coupe and windshield of the limousine, which are divided and the upper portions made to swing outward or up under the ceiling. Sash are fitted with muffler strips to prevent rattle. Windows are equipped with blue silk curtains on rollers.

The Limousine with its two revolving folding seats affords accommodations within for five passengers. This model has 36x4½ tires, robe and foot-rail in rear; tire holders. Bosch high tension magneto and Delco Ignition system; one pair gas lamps and Prestolite tank; one pair combination oil and electric side lamps and tail lamps; horn, set of tools, pump, 60-mile speedometer.

Limousine Luxury Without Its Cost

That's what the Ford Town Car gives. And it gives Style, Comfort, and Economy of Maintenance as well.

Costs so much less than the average limousine that the difference would pay the wages of a driver for two years, and the car's maintenance for the same period besides.

Gives a service surpassed by no car in existence, supplies a sturdiness and dependability that few cars can equal.

The Car That's All There

No half-way, indifferent service about the Studebaker, no perfection of one feature at the sacrifice of another. The Studebaker's "all there" — as uniformly perfect a car as was ever built. It has Style. It has Strength. It has Serviceability. It has all these features combined to an extent that leaves nothing to be desired in the car that isn't there.

It Stands Foremost Among Gas Cars

It Stands Pre-eminent Among Electrics

It's a car that's economical to operate and a matter of pride and satisfaction to own. Either type, gas or electric, in all its different forms and styles awaits your inspection.
